

ILLINOIS IS NEAR CRISIS OVER RELIEF

FERA Charges State Has Shirked Duty in Raising Funds

Chicago, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Illinois faced a water relief crisis today, following charges that the state had shirked in providing its share of funds.

The emergency was disclosed yesterday at a stormy session of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. Developments included:

1. A warning by Howard O. Hunter, midwestern representative of the federal emergency relief administration, that the FERA's grant to the IERC in December "will be far smaller than you think it will be." The commission had requested $210,207.

2. The resignation of Wilfred S. Reynolds as executive secretary of the IERC, and the appointment of Leo M. Lyons, Cook county relief administrator, to succeed him.

3. A disclosure that no provision had been made for caring for the men newly assigned to the PWA rolls from Dec. 1 to Dec. 15, when they get their first pay checks. Hunter suggested that this be called to the attention of Governor Horner and the legislature.

Wants $5,000,000.

4. An estimate by the IERC that December needs will run as high as $7,411,000 and that state funds will approximate $2,200,000, leaving a balance of more than $5,000,000 which the commission wants from the federal government.

Hunter charged the state agreed last spring with Harry L. Hopkins, FERA director, to furnish $3,000,000 per month for relief but actually supplied only about $2,000,000. He said that unless the state acted "there will be a lot of people starving."

IERC estimates were that 80,000 persons would still be on relief after the WPA became fully operative.

Robert Dunham, state WPA director, blamed the legislature for the dilemma.

"If there were no election next year, we'd have some action this fall," he said.

Heated Exchanges.

Interchanges of opinion among the members was heated at times, and several suggested that the commission go into executive session, "to avoid publicity."

Dunham was frank in his criticism of the state legislature and Governor Horner.

"The relief situation should have been included in the call which brought the legislature into special session this fall," he said, "but the governor and the legislature do not seem to appreciate the emergency; but are just drifting along."

Chairman John C. Martin engaged Hunter in a series of cross-questions as to what the state was to do for employables left on Illinois relief rolls after "Dunham takes his 183,500 on WPA."

Commission estimates, Martin contended, showed that 42,000 employable persons would be left to the state's care after WPA assumed its load.

Calls Figures Wrong.

"Your figures are wrong," Hunter replied. "After Dunham gets 183,500 to work by Dec. 1, he can take 500 during that month to bring the total to 200,000—if he can find them. Frankly, I don't believe you have 200,000 employable cases on relief in Illinois. If you can find 5,000 more—bring them around to Dunham and he will put them to work."

After this discussion, the commission voted to ask the federal government for $5,210,207 during December, and then voted to supplement WPA wages with state funds in deserving cases.

This action the members felt would prove a savings to the relief commission, since many who would otherwise refuse WPA employment due to the difference in the wage scale and the relief allotment would take the jobs.

Reynolds said after the meeting that supplementation would be granted only in a limited number of cases where the need is great and the difference considerable.

Figures presented to the commission placed the monthly cost of such supplemental aid at $700,000 if applied to every case. Estimates were, however, that not more than $200,000 would actually be needed.

Funeral services for Thomas Leggett will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Staples chapel on Galena avenue. Rev. Walter W. Marshall, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate and interment will be in the Brethren church cemetery in Pine Creek township, Ogle county.

SOME ODDITIES IN TODAY'S AP REPORT OF NEWS

CONSIDERATE THIEF

Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Police figures that the thief who entered a grocery store here was both desperate and considerate, because he smashed a costly plate glass window to enter; considerate, because he took only a box of crackers.

PAID IN NICKELS

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 23.—(UP)—For more than a year K. S. Bovender, grocery, saved his nickels. When he had enough he lugged a big bag down to city hall and paid his 1935 street assessment installment. When tax officials finished counting the 1,628 coins, they handed him a receipt for $81.40.

SILVER LINING

Rice Lake, Wis., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Farm neighbors of John Peters nominated him for silver lining under number one. Peters' clouds of hard luck included rain which destroyed a third of his potato plantings, swarms of bugs, blight, and early frost which finished his crop. He said his consolation was that had the crop survived the price paid for potatoes was so low it would have been unprofitable to pay for digging them.

TOO MANY LETTERS

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Charging that an error in a telegram cost him a job he was seeking, Lawrence R. Stokes filed a $2,500 damage suit today against the Western Union Telegraph Co.

His bill alleged he wrote to a Rock Island, Ill., insurance company, Sept. 18, applying for a position.

The answer, by wire, read "Your letter received. Report to your office tomorrow morning for interview if possible," the complaint set forth.

Stokes went to his own office and waited patiently but no one appeared, he said.

"Then he concluded the telegram should have said 'report to our office.'"

He charged the alleged error cost him the job and $135 a month.

LEE CENTERITE PENALIZED FOR LEAVING WIFE

Russell Hill of Lee Center was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to a six month term at the state work farm at Joliet this morning when he pleaded guilty to an information charging wife and child abandonment before Judge William Leech in the county court.

Hill was alleged to have left the vicinity of Lee Center on Nov. 12, taking Mrs. Kenneth Gentry and her two small children, two and one-half and seven years of age respectively, and a large portion of the furnishings in the Gentry home. According to his statement, they had been living in Chicago, where he was employed in a garage. Hill returned to Lee Center this morning, taking Mrs. Gentry and the two small children to her parents' home. When brought into court Hill showed signs of having participated in an altercation, and then questioned by Judge Leech stated that the confusions were the result of a bump.

640 Frenchmen Taken to Prison Island

Saint-Martin-de-Re, France, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The floating prison La Martinique weighed anchor today for the dead-end Guiana prisons with another sorry load of 340 Frenchmen, leaving their homeland "for the country's good" on the ship's second trip this year. With 300 criminals also banished from France which the freighter will take on at Algiers, Algeria, the population of the desolate penal colony will be increased by 640.

"Loyal Democrats" Get Supervisory Positions or County Loses Projects Under WPA to Give 900 Employment

Marion, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—District WPA Director Walter Williams of Harrisburg, a Democrat, was victor today in a bitter three-weeks dispute with Williamson county commissioners over his reported insistence that "loyal Democrats" be placed in supervisory positions on county WPA projects.

The project is for 154 miles of gravel roads at an estimated cost of $510,000, which the county is to provide $50,000.

The commissioners wired Williams yesterday that they would agree to his selection of the 154 miles of the highway work and the prospective employment of 900 men.

They said Williams had turned down some qualified Democrats on the list "because they were not loyal to the party."

Commissioners asserted virtually all those on Williams' list were without experience in road building.

UNCLE SAM BEARS DOWN ON EXPORTS

Shipments of Cotton to Warring Nations Taboo

War Summary

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Diplomatic Front:

Italy began enforcing a Franco-British boycott.

Rome was reported to have warned France that an oil embargo "would mean war."

Italy notified the international labor office at Geneva it will not be represented at the international maritime conference. The question arose whether Italy contemplated leaving the League of Nations.

A belief developed in London the British government might support an oil and coal embargo against Italy.

The American embassy in Rome considered protesting formally against the tearing of American flags from an automobile containing American tourists.

The War Front:

An official announcement in Rome said the entire Ogaden area, on the southern front, had come under Italian control.

Advices to Rome said a "dark-horse" column is marching across the Danakil desert from Assab, Eritrea, to attack Dessye, Ethiopian field headquarters and troop concentration point.

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Determination to prevent Italy and Ethiopia from obtaining the raw materials of war in this country was evidenced anew today in two government quarters.

Secretary Hull intimated the United States might try to prevent cotton sales to the Italo-Ethiopian war zone if that step becomes necessary.

Simultaneously, shipping board officials asserted they would permit no more ships in which they had an interest to be sold to Italy for breaking up into scrap iron which might be used for war.

The shipping board spokesmen said delivery of the third of three old vessels sold to an Italian shipyard of the Pacific & Atlantic Steamship Company had been stopped after President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation.

Cotton Essential

Exactly how trading in cotton—which is essential to a warring nation—could be restricted, Secretary Hull did not say. But he already has issued an unofficial list of "war materials" including oil, copper, scrap iron and steel, trucks and tractors. Cotton was not on it. Some thought, therefore, cotton might be included in that list.

The embargo proclaimed by Roosevelt November 5 applies only to actual arms and munitions. Americans have been advised further that any dealings in the so-called "war materials" are conducted at their own risk.

The question arose at a press conference today when newsmen called attention to government figures showing shipments of raw cotton to Italy increased substantially in October compared with the preceding month.

Asked whether he considered cotton essential to war, he replied any question relating to what constitutes prime, essential and immediate war materials shipped in abnormal quantities would be given attention.

Some observers surmised that the increase in cotton exports in October was attributable more to seasonal than to war factors, that the government did not consider such exports "abnormal" so far and that for those reasons the Secretary of State had omitted cotton from his list.

Now that the government is applying financial pressure on the merchant marine to prevent export of the sinews of war to Italy and Ethiopia, speculation arose today as to the next step in the neutrality policy.

This question was asked, without any official answer: Whether there would be demands in congress for a broader

Borah who is urged by several associates to enter his name in the spring presidential preference primaries, would not disclose specifically the tenor of his speech.

Wintry Winds Find President in South

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Chill winds which carried freezing temperatures from the north gave zest to the holiday excursions of President Roosevelt about Pine Mountain today.

A plunge in the outdoor pool of the Warm Springs foundation—which is 90 degrees the year around—was on the program. It looked like a Saturday afternoon away from work.

Roosevelt enjoyed a swim yesterday, inspected his Pine Mountain farm and visited with several neighbors.

School Aid Back on Monthly Basis

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—State aid payments from the school distributive fund are back on a monthly basis, the legislature having repealed part of its regular session work.

Governor Horner late yesterday signed three bills, one of them putting the common school fund payments on a monthly instead of a quarterly basis and the other two making technical changes in the financial powers of the Chicago board of education.

Attentions Paid to Girl Bride Center of Mystery Murder Quiz

Search for solution of a mystery slaying at New City, N. Y., center around attentions alleged to have been paid pretty Mary Scope Philpott, above, 16-year-old bride. LeRoy Smith, 23-year-old farmer, was found shot to death in a field near the home of the girl's parents, three weeks after he is alleged to have engaged in a fist fight with her husband, Luther Philpott, 23, when the latter accused Smith of paying court to Mrs. Philpott. The girl's parents are seeking to annul the marriage. Smith's father told police that Philpott at that time threatened to "get" Smith if he didn't stay away from the bride.

Eruption Mauna Loa Draws Many See Spectacle

Hilo, Hawaii, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Mauna Loa speewed fiery lava with undiminished fury today, attracting throngs of sightseers by its spectacular eruption.

Five blazing rivers of lava crawled down the slopes of the volcano. One mile-wide stream extended 13 miles down the north side to within 25 miles of Hilo. Its future course depended upon the degree of activity within the crater, but there was little fear it would reach the city, largest on the island.

However, should the lava approach too close, Dr. Thomas A. Jagger, government volcanologist, was prepared to divert its flow by blasting.

Many Spectators.

Parties came to Honolulu, on the neighboring island of Oahu, by airplane and steamer, with "mattress space only" available on the boats and passengers sleeping on deck.

The molten lava threatened a desolate country between two big ranches. Nothing could yet be told as to its final course, but there was no immediate threat to the Humuula sheep station nor to important trails.

An AP correspondent flew over the volcano yesterday in a navy airplane, and a wall of solid flame, 500 feet wide, 1,000 feet long and 200 feet thick could be seen burning fiercely in the crater a mile away. Fiery fountains played with in the crater, while not far away snow covered a larger area on the mountain top.

FIND AGED MAN NEAR FROZEN IN RY. SCALEHOUSE

Harry Scott, 76-year-old Negro, who claims Louisville, Ky., as his original home, is in a critical condition at the county jail today, where he was taken this morning by Sheriff Miller and Deputy Gilbert Finch. The aged man, suffering from exposure of the last two nights, was found in a scale house on the North-Western right of way at Nachusa.

Residents of Nachusa informed the sheriff's office this morning that the man had been seen about the railroad scale house, since early in the week and it was feared that he might have frozen to death. The officials went to Nachusa to investigate and found the aged man in a weakened condition, suffering from cold and lack of proper clothing. He was taken to the county jail and a physician was summoned to make a further investigation at noon today.

Scott was too chilled to give any information about himself when taken to the jail, but early this afternoon he stated that he had no living relatives and was homeless. He told other prisoners that he had originally resided in Louisville, Ky., but had been in Illinois for the past six years, during which time he has been wandering about from town to town.

The above statement in answer to Commissioner Joe Valle's announcement that the taxpayers of the city lacked information on the proposal and his added declaration:

"Personally I am not in favor of this sewage disposal plan, I never have been and I will continue to oppose it. I propose to make a statement before this council before the election and am now preparing material for this statement."

Threatens Explosion.

With this announcement, Commissioner Valle inquired from Mayor Slothower if there was explosion insurance on the city hall proper, and when he was informed that the policy covered only the boiler room, the street commissioner replied:

"Well, you had better get plenty of insurance on the city hall before the next meeting for there is going to be an explosion."

Commissioner Fred G. Dimick, who previously had remained silent on the subject of the sewage disposal system, made known his feelings on the subject last evening.

"The members of this city council would be severely criticized by the citizens of Dixon in later years, had they not availed themselves of the possibility of securing the federal

Star Splits in Two and Astronomers See Support of Theories Universe is Slowly Exploding

(Copyright, 1935 by The AP) Williams Bay, Wis., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Nova Hercules—the star that rose from oblivion to the season's celestial sensation last winter—burst forth today with the most direct evidence yet discovered in support of the theory that the universe is exploding.

Its testimony was recorded by the 40-inch telescope at Yerkes observatory and transmitted by Prof. George Van Biesbroeck, Observatory Director Dr. Otto Struve disclosed in an interview.

The star was the first observed in the western sky last December as a brilliant upstart in the heavenly galaxy. In July, it was found to have split into two parts. By night observations since then, Dr. Struve said, Professor Van Biesbroeck has determined that the two parts have been speeding away from each other at the rate of 300 miles a second.

These findings, the director explained, are evidence that the real reason for Nova Hercules' sudden burst into prominence was that the star had burst, or erupted, throwing off two clouds of gas or nebulous matter, in opposite directions.

4 AMERICANS MISTREATED BY ITALIANS

Were Center of Riotous Demonstration in Padua Tuesday

Rome, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The United States Embassy is considering making representations to the Italian government regarding a riotous demonstration against Americans at Padua, it was disclosed today.

Breckenridge Long, United States Ambassador in Rome, said "if a further investigation warrants, we will make representations to the Italian government."

The ambassador issued the following statement:

"Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Bollman and Dr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Moersch, all of Rochester, Minn., were touring Europe in their own automobile which they had brought from America.

"I understand they landed in England and procured international automobile license No. GB QC 3307 (322).

"They entered Italy from Austria and arrived in Padua. While the automobile was parked in front of a hotel they were the center of a demonstrating crowd of several hundred individuals.

Flags Torn Off

"The car had on it American flags which were torn off.

"I am advised that the crowd's animosity was aroused by the license plate and that it was presumed the flags were being used to conceal the nationality of the owner.

"There was a considerable demonstration of unfriendliness. Dr. and Mrs. Bollman and Dr. and Mrs. Moersch were protected by state police who quieted the mob. The car suffered some damage but the tourists were unharmed.

"The next day they quietly left town under police protection.

"I have not heard that they were subjected to any other difficulty. I understand they have left Italy."

The incident occurred in the center of Padua last Tuesday.

Up To Ambassador

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The State Department, advised by Ambassador Breckenridge Long of the incident involving Americans at Padua, Italy, left him today the task of taking the necessary action.

No instructions have been sent from here. State department officials explained the ambassador would follow the usual procedure of asking the foreign office in Rome to investigate. On the basis of the report the embassy would decide whether any representations were necessary.

The incident was regarded here as of little importance in as much as the reported demonstration evidently was occasioned by the Americans being mistaken for British.

Dixon Girl Suffers Broken Leg in Auto Crash Last Evening

Miss Helen Kline, 415 South Galena avenue, sustained a fractured leg and minor injuries last evening about 8:30 when a car in which she was a passenger and which was driven by Kenneth Cook of this city, collided with another machine on the First avenue bridge in Sterling. Stanley Stout of Rock Falls, who was driving south on the bridge, was said to have turned out to pass another machine and crashed head-on into the Cook car, which was being driven north.

Miss Kline was removed to the Sterling hospital and early this morning was brought to the Katherine Shaw Bethesda hospital in this city in an ambulance. Stout sustained minor cuts and bruises which were treated at the hospital. Cook escaped uninjured. Both cars were badly damaged.

Arnett, Okla., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Investigation of the pre-staged slaying of Ed Nelson, a "roll-flashing" stranger from Texas, took a sensational new turn today with filing of a murder charge against Mrs. Bonnie Lovall of Death Valley, Calif.

County Attorney Charles B. Leely said the charge, second to be filed in the 28-year-old slaying, named Mrs. Lovall as a "principal" in the death of Nelson.

The first charge was lodged against C. E. Farmer, 55-year-old Laverne justice of the peace, who denied any part in the killing of Nelson Nov. 3, 1907, at Shattuck, Texas, a "hell-razin'", frontier gambling town in Indian territory.

grant in part payment for the construction of the sewage treatment plant. It is something that will be forced upon the city later and why not take advantage of this 45 per cent grant made available by the federal government to apply toward its construction? he asked the council.

Mayor Slothower added to this: "Personally, I shall vote for the bond issue as a taxpayer in Dixon. Under this plan all property in the city will pay its proportionate share toward this improvement. The cost of operation will be at a minimum. It is but a matter of a few years before the city will be ordered to cease dumping its sewage into Rock river and to construct a sewage disposal system. It will then cost the city from two to two and one-half times as much to build such a system as at present with the federal grant and the low market on bonds. This council would be derelict in its duties to the citizens, had there are still many hundreds of regular contributors who have not yet mailed in their dues. The Red Cross Roll Call drive must be completed before Thanksgiving Day and all are urged to send in their dollars now. A statement of accomplishments of the National Red Cross, made public here today by Robert W. Sterling, Chairman of the local chapter, shows that the organization has just closed one of the busiest years in its peace-time history. Development of the chapter's activities have kept pace with the National Organization's expansion, the chairman pointed out.

According to the report, the 128 disaster relief operations in the continental United States last year exceeded by 58 per cent the average for the preceding ten years. Last year's relief was given in a total of 160 disasters, including insular and foreign operations.

Relief Given 110,000

In frequency of occurrence and variety of type last year's disasters proved the value of the structure and administration of Red Cross disaster relief service. The 128 disasters in the United States were located in 37 of the 48 states and the territory of Alaska; relief was given to 110,000 victims of these disasters, in 306 counties. Catastrophes included dust storms, explosions, fires, floods, epidemics of disease, shipwrecks and all types of storms. This variation called for expert counsel on health and nutrition problems as well as case work for relief for the victims.

During the year 20 disaster institutes were held at strategic points, following out the disaster preparedness program inaugurated the preceding year, the report reveals. They brought together chairmen and members of disaster committees, community leaders, city and state officials, and representatives of police, fire and health departments. Plans were perfected in these sessions for use in disaster emergencies. In addition, the subject of disaster preparedness and relief was presented at 22 chapter institutes, attended by chapter officers and workers.

Expenditures of the National Red Cross in disaster relief within the continental United States during the year were $464,413.

First Aid Instruction

First aid instruction for men employed on federal relief and public works projects, begun the previous year, was continued. First aid certificates were also given to 64,253 men in the Civilian Conservation Camps all over the United States. The total number of first aid certificates awarded during the year was 187,255. The total number of certificates issued since the service was established a quarter of a century ago is 950,801.

A new feature of the life saving program was the training given to men in Civilian Conservation Camps, by Red Cross personnel under the direction of war department officials in charge of the camps. Fifty-seven schools were organized and 4569 men enrolled. A total of 74,274 life saving certificates were issued last year. Altogether, 634,247 life saving certificates have been issued in the 21 years of the history of the service.

Home service workers in 1,071 chapters dealt with the problems of 278,915 ex-service men or their families. In hospitals and regional offices of the Veterans' Administration and in other government hospitals, representatives of national organization dealt with 59,756 ex-service men or their families. There were 8,069 men now in regular service, or their families, aided by chapters, and 27,379 cases dealt with by Red Cross field directors in army, navy, marine corps and coast guard stations and workers in government hospitals.

38,000 Nurses Ready

The chapter chairman explained that 38,000 nurses are on the active list of the Red Cross Nurses' Reserve, ready to answer calls from army or navy and the Red Cross disaster service.

During the twelve month period 1,156,003 nursing visits were made by Red Cross public health nurses to or in behalf of patients; 633,944 children were inspected in schools. At the close of the year 766 public health nurses were employed by 434 chapters, according to the report.

In the home hygiene field 1,593 authorized instructors were active in teaching classes in home hygiene and care of the sick. Out of 58,555 students who received instruction, 52,196 satisfactorily completed the course and were awarded certificates. Since the Red Cross first undertook the teaching of these courses, 784,929 certificates have been issued.

Food-Nutrition Courses

In 52 chapters, classes were conducted and in 37 additional chapters nutrition projects were conducted, under direction of 270 women trained in home economics, giving assistance on food budgets, food demonstration, school lunch projects, planning low-cost menus, etc. A total of 4,573 persons enrolled for Red Cross food and nutrition courses. Altogether, since the Red Cross began these food and nutrition courses 28,960 certificates have been issued.

Special diphtheria immunization projects were put on in 17 chapters where there is no Red Cross public health nursing service. In these chapters inoculations to prevent diphtheria were given to 40,000 children. In 428 chapters, projects were put on for the prevention and cure of Pellagra.

In civilian relief work aid was given during the year by 1,021 chapters in relief for 223,042 families. At the request of the federal emergency relief administration, chapters generally made their services available to assist transient veterans. Chapters also cooperated with the FERA in an adult education program for the unemployed through the use of unemployed teachers. Red Cross classes were organized through this channel in home hygiene and care of the sick, food selection, first aid and life saving.

1,232,333 Garments

There were 1,232,333 garments produced by chapter volunteers last year; 320,406 pages of braille were made by hand and 344, 811 by the duplication process; 16,941 Christmas bags were prepared; 71,711 shirts were made by the motor corps; 29,825 home service visits were made; 4,123,399 surgical dressings and 22,109 layettes were prepared; 54,780 persons were fed by canteen workers. The number of enrolled volunteers, not including those engaged in disaster relief, totaled 135,026.

The final roll call report showed 3,837,941 memberships enrolled for the year ended June 30, 1935, an increase of 35,557 members over the roll call for the previous year, with 7,752,343 as the maximum membership in the Junior Red Cross during the school year 1934-35, an increase of 401,963.

There are 3,711 Red Cross chapters with a total of 9,112 branches. There chapters and branches expanded approximately $5,600,000 during the year in services to their local communities. The national organization expended for its national service program approximately $2,945,000.

Lewis Resigns from A. F. L.; Unexplained

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America resigned today as vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis announced his resignation in a brief letter to William Green, president of the federation, saying: "Effective this date, I resign as a vice president of the American Federation of Labor."

His resignation came as a surprise and brought forward again the long standing conflict between Lewis and Green over two opposed theories of labor organization.

ROLL CALL MADE

Many Former Contributors to Great Mother Tardy This Year

Have you contributed to the Red Cross Roll Call yet? It will cost you one dollar to be a member of the National Red Cross for the coming year and you surely will want to help its wonderful work to that extent at least. Some donations come in larger amounts.

George Shaw, chairman of the Roll Call this year in Lee County, stated today that while there has been a nice response to the appeal for renewal of membership so far, there are still many hundreds of regular contributors who have not yet mailed in their dues. The Red Cross Roll Call drive must be completed before Thanksgiving Day and all are urged to send in their dollars now. LITTLE DREAMS

By Joseph Fort Newson
All the world is a stage, said the greatest of all dramatists, and men and women are simply actors. Each plays his part, well or ill, in comedy or tragedy, sometimes in both, and makes his exit.

Many day, anywhere, if one has eyes to see, one may watch scores of little dramas, all the more delightful or pathetic because the actors are unconscious of being watched in the parts they take.

Here is an example that lingers in my mind from days gone by, days of the great war, when beauty and pity and pain were strongly mingled with heroism and horror, and all life moved under shadow.

Scene I: A subway train standing at the Blackfriars Station in London. Enter a tired-looking man with a 'cello in his cumbersome case. He sinks heavily into a seat, closes his eyes, and tries to rest.

People passing stumble against his instrument and are, in about equal numbers, apologetic, annoyed and indifferent. Enter a tall New Zealand soldier, as handsome as a Greek god. He sits opposite the 'cello player, and looks lovingly at the instrument, as at an old friend.

Scene II: The same, four stations west. The New Zealander rises to leave the car, taking a last look at the 'cello. The musician looks up and his eyes meet those of the soldier with understanding.

The soldier smiles faintly, trying to be light-hearted, and pointing to the 'cello, says: "No more of that for me. It was my favorite instrument." He goes out, and the 'cello sees that his right sleeve is empty.

The musician flushes slightly and, after a moment, blows his nose defiantly, looked around furtively to see if anyone has had the indecency to notice his emotion and the tears he wiped away. No one has.

It was a moving little drama, silent except for the soft words spoken by the soldier, and it touched those who saw it deeply. How pathetic people are, yet how brave without that they are so pitiful.

If only we had eyes to see what passes before our eyes, our hearts would be gentler, kinder, and more willing to pity and forgive.

Birthday Party For Marie Potts

Last evening, Miss Marie Potts entertained a group of eighth grade and first high, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Potts and they had a merry evening which passed all too rapidly in games and music. At luncheon Biddle Burke was awarded the favor for high score and Georgia Eastman won the consolation favor. Tempting birthday refreshments were served. Decorations were in autumn colors and were most attractive. Miss Potts received a number of nice gifts from her young friends with best wishes for happiness and many more birthdays, this being her fourteenth.

Chicago Artists to Appear in Concert Sunday at Coliseum

One of the most outstanding of the public programs sponsored by the Mendelssohn club of Sterling for this season, will be the artists concert, to be presented in the coliseum, there tomorrow which Jascha Ruskhin of Chicago, distinguished violinist, and Mildred Wallace, soloist of rare beauty of voice, will be featured in solo parts. Assisting will be many members of the famous Chicago Symphony orchestra. The concert will prove a distinct departure from the stilted, strictly classical programs to one delightfully different, in that it will comprise more modern, quick moving numbers, similar to the best and most popular radio concerts, embracing every element of musical color and repertoire that will hold the attentions of the laymen as well as the serious musician.

Mr. Ruskhin is a musician of established reputation, having been soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra for two seasons and first violinist for six years. He toured the United States and Canada with the famous "Voellner Belgian Quartet" and at 17 years was youngest first violinist with the St. Louis Symphony. Following this engagement, he became a first violinist of the Chicago Symphony and Ravinia opera, also conducting his own symphony orchestra with an instrumentation of pieces, over a period of three years. He founded his own quintet, all members of the Chicago Symphony. Last year he directed his own orchestra at Arlington hotel, Hot Springs, Ark., for seven months, giving over 450 broadcasts. At present he is active in the radio and concert field in Chicago, with the NBC.

No less the true artist, is Miss Mildred Wallace, soprano, whose voice possesses exceptionally fine tone quality, especially adapted to operatic arias. At a recent hearing in Chicago, Mary Garden proclaimed her a perfect "Tosca."

Glenn Dillard Gunn, music critic for a Chicago newspaper, announced her's the possible voice of the age. Miss Wallace has had an Atwater Kent winner, a protégé of Mme. Renberg, leading soprano of New York Metropolitan opera. Irene Castle and Louis Gilbert, sponsors of many well-known NBC artists, have hailed Miss Wallace as possessing the perfect voice for radio.

Mr. Ruskhin is vitally interested in co-operating with the Mendelssohn club in a desire to bring to Sterling the finest and best in the music world, and is putting forth every possible effort in the furtherance of good musical activities for Sterling. Miss Wallace, a charter member of the club when it was organized 10 years ago, retains an interest in its welfare and progress.

Shower for Miss Florence Halligan Is Largely Attended

Last evening at St. Mary's hall in Waion a large company of friends gathered to honor Miss Florence Halligan who will soon be married to John Fielding. The wedding will be an event of the Thanksgiving season. The crowd assembled last evening into large proportions, between two hundred and fifty and three hundred interested friends arriving and bringing useful, pretty and ornamental gifts for the bride and groom and their new home to be. It proved a delightful evening for everyone present. The gifts were unwrapped and placed on a large table at the head of the room where all could view the pretty display and wish the couple happiness in advance. Afterwards all enjoyed day long to good music furnished by John Fielding and his orchestra. Delicious refreshments were a feature of the evening. Miss Halligan and Mr. Fielding both expressed their appreciation of the thoughtfulness of their friends.

Newlyweds Honored At Dinner Sunday

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jewett and son Elbridge of Amboy, Miss Roberta Donovan of LaSalle, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Finn and daughter Joanne of Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. James Finn of Dixon, LeRoy Finn of Rockford, John and Miss Alta Grace Carlson of Rochelle, Miss Pearl Gross of Rockford and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carlson and son Jack of Lee Center.

Mrs. Marth reported twelve members in the Queen Esther society of high school girls. Mrs. Boyd reported seventeen members in the Junior Queen Esther society.

Mrs. McCord reported seventeen members in Mother's Jewel Society. Mrs. Boyd had the devotion which were devoted to Missionary and Deaconess work.

Mrs. Bills had charge of the program. Miss Flora Seals gave two chapters of the study book "Toward a Christian America." She gave a review of the Missionary work among the Indians and was most interesting. A demonstration taken from the "Look of the Month" was given by the following ladies, Mesdames Mesdames Whitson, W. Hintz, Powell, Hopkins, Sworn, Ball, and Miss Anderson.

This brought out and explained many points in a very helpful manner.

Miss Claire Downes; Bride of Jos. Villiger In Beautiful Ceremony

This morning Miss Claire Downes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Downes, 307 Mormon street, Oglesby, Ill., and Joseph Villiger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Villiger, of Dixon, were united in marriage in a very beautiful ceremony at the Sacred Heart Catholic church at Oglesby. Father Wujek officiated at the impressive service. The bride a beautiful young woman, was gowned for her wedding in an exquisite frock of eggshell satin, with all accessories en costume, and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies, a creamy, filmy veil falling gracefully to the hem of her gown. To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March she approached the altar on the arm of her father, Ernest Downes.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her friend, Miss Perna Gibson of Chicago. She was attired in pink mottlesse crepe, complemented by silver accessories and she carried an arm bouquet of delicate Johanna Hill roses. Frank Villiger, brother of the groom, was his best man. A cousin of the bride, petite Shirley Lou Scalerini daintily gowned, carried a basket of rose petals, which gently fluttered to the floor in the path of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held and a breakfast served at the Kaskaskia hotel in LaSalle.

Mrs. Villiger is a very charming young woman, and has many friends here as she has made Dixon her home for the past few years. Mr. Villiger is a genial and courteous member of the sales force of the Sullivan drug store. Both young folks have the hearty good wishes of hosts of Dixon friends. They left on a wedding trip, their destination not divulged by them. On their return they will be at home to their friends in a home owned by the groom on West Chamberlain street.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks, Mrs. David L. Murphy, Miss Helen Stewart, Miss Marjella Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Villiger, Sr., of Dixon; Miss Ruby Rice, Joelle, Mr. and Mrs. Finley Gibson, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Downes, Chicago.

Hoel-Hacht Wedding Friday

Alfred Hacht of Fort Atkinson, Wis., and Miss Bergholt Hoel of Cottage Grove, Wis., were united in marriage Friday afternoon at 2:45 at the personage of the Immanuel Lutheran church, the pastor Rev. A. G. Suechting officiating at the double ring ceremony. There were no attendants. The bride was attractively gowned in dark green crepe with gold trimmings.

The young couple, after the ceremony, returned to Wisconsin, where the bridegroom follows the trade of a mason. They will live on a small farm owned by Mr. Hacht, about one mile out of Fort Atkinson. Their many friends there await the opportunity of congratulating them.

Sunshine Class Meeting Thursday

The Sunshine Class of St. Paul's Lutheran church held a regular meeting Thursday evening with twenty-five members and visitors present.

The meeting opened with song, with Mrs. Caroline Bjorneby at the piano. Mrs. Jesse Follett had charge of the devotion. Minutes and roll call were read by Mrs. Bremer. The treasurer, Mrs. Martinson, gave a splendid report. Plans for the Christmas party were made, after which the meeting was closed by prayer. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Grace Stanley, Hannah Chronister, Jennie Rees, and Amelia Dykeman.

Last year more than 187,000 certificates were issued to those completing courses in Red Cross First Aid. Holders of these certificates know what to do when accident occurs. They are America's life savers on land. Many lives will be saved through practical application of their knowledge. Join their ranks and join the Red Cross through this chapter so that its great work of safety and saving may be carried on at full strength.

Wood alcohol poisoning caused only 12 deaths in the United States in 1932, as compared with 250 in 1930.

Red Cross Wars on Carelessness In Home or While at Work on Farm

THE American Red Cross is throwing the weight of its entire organization behind a continuing campaign to combat the negligence and lack of knowledge in the home and on the farm which last year claimed nearly 40,000 lives and injured millions.

According to safety experts most accidents can be prevented. Every Red Cross Chapter and Branch will play a part in this large-scale humanitarian operation, and have mobilized to meet the challenge of negligence, according to Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Red Cross chairman.

Youth Appreciates Adult Confidence

By Olive Roberts Barton

A young fellow (sixteen, he was) came to his mother and, with the expression of a bank president signing a million-dollar loan, said: "Mother, I like Mary better than anyone I ever knew. I want to be where she is every minute. Do you suppose I'm in love with her?"

His mother answered quite seriously, "Why, it just might be, John, if you feel that way. How old is Mary?"

"I think she is about eighteen. She's awfully nice to me. I look about eighteen, don't I?" The lady surveyed her boy almost scarping the top door jamb. He was big enough to be forty, but that round face was exactly sixteen and no more. Nevertheless, he had come to her and bared his heart, something that a chap that age seldom does, for sixteen is the age of agony; at no other time in life is one so given to hurt and shame over imaginary troubles.

Dangerous Moment

To have smiled or taken a light tone she knew would have blasted this sacred seedling of confidence. Her baby came for advice and help as he would have a few years before, oh, so few, for a smashed finger.

Fortunately, she knew something about this Mary, a steady, serious girl to be depended on. Quickly she made her plan. "You are a big boy," she said to her son, "but if I were you, I would not pose as being older. Mary knows you are a sophomore. You don't want her to think you are too dumb to be a senior?"

"Would it be all right if I went to see her? Would she think I was silly?" "No, indeed. Go over some afternoon after school and stay a few minutes. But I wouldn't tell her how you feel about her. She will know you like her very much without you saying anything at all. Just be nice and polite, and don't be in a hurry."

When he was gone his mother picked up the telephone, then put it down. There was something too sacred about the boy's confidence to spill over the telephone to Mary's mother, as she had first planned in order to get her cooperation. She did not know whether to laugh or cry about it. First love, calf love, is so precious a thing to the young.

Relationship Worth Keeping

Through an intensive educational program, the Red Cross will seek to explode the fallacy that the home is safe. Common and uncommon hazards will be pointed out; individual families will be shown how these hazards may be eliminated and instruction will be given in the avoidance of unsafe habits and practices apt to cause accidents.

Preparations have been made to inspect more than 30,000,000 homes, the inspection to be conducted by home dwellers themselves. Through the cooperation of educational groups, the school child will take a specially prepared inspection form

Two selections were sung again by the Prophetstown Trio, "Swanee River" and "Comin' Thru the Rye." Gold Star Mothers were introduced. The dept. pres, Mrs. W. G. Suthers, then gave an address on Patriotism. She especially urged the R. O. T. C. and C. M. T. S. training.

The Prophetstown Sextette then sang two selections, "Massa's in de Cold Ground," and "Old Black Joe."

A SCIENTIFIC WONDER

"The De Forest Ultra Frequency Dynatherm is a marvel for deep penetration of bodily tissues, and is specially adapted to reach and eradicate deep seated infection. So powerful is this new invented apparatus that it will transmit with ease an ultra frequency current consisting of 2000 milliamperes through a stack of books 10 inches thick.

At a contest staged by Friendly Fever Machine Manufacturers and held in Chicago early last spring, the De Forest Ultra Frequency Dynatherm, being compared and tested by the foremost Physiotherapists of the U. S., proved itself to be the most efficient and best adaptable of all the contesting Friendly Fever Machines present at the contest.

Desiring the most scientific and best adaptable Hyperpyrexia apparatus for general office use, I purchased this De Forest and installed it in my office May 23, 1935. After nearly six months of continued trials and careful applications, the De Forest Ultra Frequency Dynatherm has proven itself a blessing to the afflicted and a great delight to myself.

THE SOVIET AT WORK

"The New Deal low-rent housing enterprise, as administered by Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, has expended $19,153,665 and not a single family in the United States is actually housed in a dwelling constructed with that money," a New York dispatch says Mrs. Preston Davis told the National Ickes Builders in an address. She charged that the Ickes housing administration stands as one of the tragic failures of the New Deal scheme.

The lady appears disposed to hold Mr. Ickes responsible for the failure, but why pick on Mr. Ickes? Doesn't the report sound exactly like the ones we have heard repeatedly from soviet Russia about their undertakings to carry on industrial projects. Delays and failures have been reported from the beginning.

There are some things the United States government has done creditably. There are projects in the department of the United States engineers, mainly on rivers and harbors. The engineers furnish the efficiency, the government furnishes the money, and old Father Time furnishes the time. With such a combination of elements it ought to be possible to do some things well.

We seem to carry out housing projects much as we constructed airplanes during the world war. We spent a billion dollars and never put an American-made plane at the front.

Tugwell & Co. are undertaking to stir up the people of the country against private industry so we shall be compelled to put that kind of soviet blundering into effect in the United States.

Russia is making progress only to the extent that she is retreating from the communistic doctrines and taking back successful principles of capitalism.

Mrs. Roosevelt's socialistic project was a sorry mess the last time publicity was given to it, and the Ickes projects have failed utterly to do what was represented for them by their advance agents.

CHILD STARS' PAY

It is with some awe, if not envy, that the public reads of the pay received by a few child movie stars. Shirley Temple is at the top of the pile with a salary from her movie work of $2,500 a week and another $2,500 a week coming in royalties from commercial products bearing her name. If the money is sensibly handled, there is no danger of the poverty wolf appearing at Shirley's door. Other well-paid children of the screen are Freddie Bartholomew, Jackie Cooper, Mickey Rooney, Sybil Jason and Jackie Searle. The Bartholomew boy got only $150 a week for "David Copperfield", but is now up to $1,000 a week.

Baby Le Roy, who jumped to fame in a picture with Maurice Chevalier, receives $80 a week when he is "working" and $35 a week when he isn't.

The Dionne quintuplets should be added to this list. Their guardians have recently signed a "very attractive" movie contract for them.

What determines these salaries? Box office success is the salary yardstick. It is well to remember, however, that for every child who reaches the top with public and producer, there are thousands of others whose ambitious parents try in vain to get them into the business. Still others have only occasional small parts at small pay.

HOT DOGS IN RUSSIA

Capitalism has begun its insidious undermining work in a new disguise in Russia. It is reported that Joseph Stalin himself suggested to Amasta Mikoyan, commissar of the food industry, that he promote the "hot dog industry." So successful has Commissar Mikoyan been, that in Moscow alone 500,000 persons have become hot dog addicts.

Addressing a national congress of skilled workmen, Mikoyan pointed out that people become millionaires in America from the manufacture of hot dogs. They could not do this unless other people consumed the hot dogs. The Russian government, we suppose, is the fortune-seeking manufacturer in this case. Why it, or any of its citizens, should want to become millionaires requires some explaining.

Fortunately there is nourishment as well as pleasure in eating hot dogs. The Russians who eat them because they have been told to do so keep on because they like them.

REVERSED BLUE LAWS

Philadelphia, for the first time in its history, permits Sunday shows. It is reported that the first showing of Sunday talkies drew large crowds in spite of a storm of rain, sleet and snow.

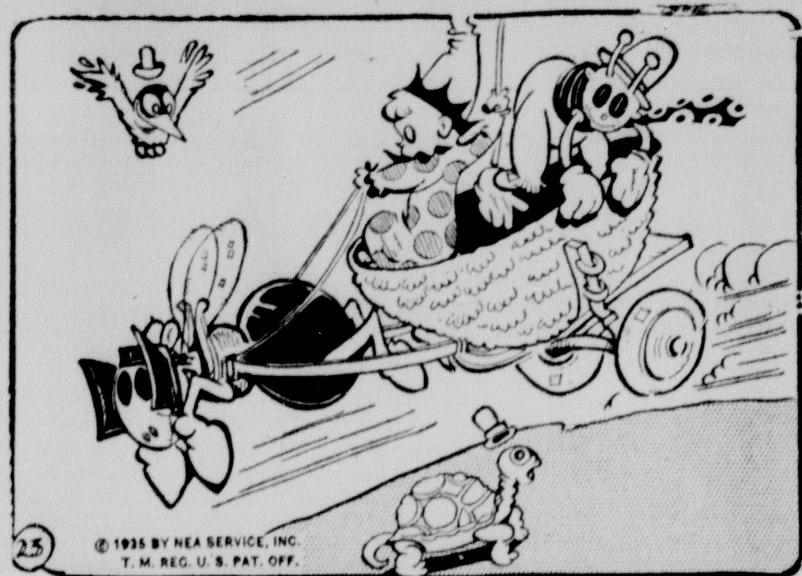

Nobody need crow or lament too soon. The enthusiasm for Sunday commercial entertainment may not last indefinitely. After a few Sundays of feeling curious, the crowds may thin out. The people who wanted Sunday shows doubtless will continue to patronize them. The others will soon resume their habitual Sunday customs—going to church, eating, taking a nap, doing a little reading, taking a drive in the family car, visiting, and so on.

Liberalizing blue laws seems a backward step to some people, an advance to keep up with the times to others. If the action follows expressed popular will it is sensible and harmless.

Had this policy been in world-wide effect in 1776, it is doubtful if the 13 colonies would have achieved their independence.—Representative J. W. Wadsworth, New York, referring to arms embargo provision of neutrality bill.

It is a great mistake to say we have a property of privileged class in this country. Lincoln said property is only the fruit of labor.—Ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

THE TINYMITE

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Wee Duncy shouted, "Sure I'll be real fun to fix you up a smile, and I will stay here for a while. I guess you are a friendly sort, so I feel welcome here."

"I'm just a Tynmite you see, as full of pep as I can be. There are a lot of other Tynmites roaming somewhere near."

"This big grasshopper took me for a ride. Gee, you should see him soar up through the air with every leap. I finally wore him out."

"Then I lugged him across the ground until this pleasant spot was found. Imagine how surprised we were, when first we heard you shout."

"Perhaps I scared you. That was mean, but when you walked in on the scene, I, too, was quite a bit surprised," the little elf replied.

"Where are the other Tynmites, now? Please try and get them here, somehow." "I wish I could, but I am lost from them," wee Duncy sighed.

"What, lost? Well, don't you worry, son," the elf snapped. "I'll be right back."

"Now, first of all, the carriage will be brought forth, and you'll get a thrill." The wee elf clapped his hands and very soon exclaimed "Look there!"

"Then Duncy shouted, in delight, 'An acorn carriage. What a sight! An acorn is hitched up to the front of it, I do declare.'"

"All right, hop in. The thing is strong. Take your grasshopper friend along," the elf said. "Then I'll say goodbye, 'cause here I'll have to stay."

Wee Duncy did as he was told, and of the reins he grabbed a hold. In just about a moment, he was on his merry way.

FIGHT LOOMS IN DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY NEXT APRIL

Many of Party Leaders Cool Toward Gov. Henry Horner

By ROBERT P. HOWARD
Associated Press Staff Writer
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—Democratic politicians frankly admit they do not know who the majority party will nominate for governor next year.

They have joined in the general scratching of heads over the puzzle caused by Henry Horner's desire for a second term and the evident intention on the part of some influential Democrats to give the job to someone else.

The matter came up in both houses this week. Senator Harold G. Ward and Rep. Benjamin S. Adamowski, chief legislative spokesmen for Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, told the special session that they don't know who the gubernatorial nominee will be. In the surplus crop of Democratic rumors, two facts are definitely established:

Two Established Facts

1. Horner wants a second term. His candidacy has been announced. He started to line up renomination support six months ago.

2. Mayor Kelly, the No. 1 man among Democratic slatemakers, isn't supporting him. Along with the cold shoulder toward the executive mansion, Kelly has said he has no candidate for governor.

As to what might happen, the rumors are as numerous as they are unverifiable. Those who try to keep track of the gossip can take their choice of such "inside tips" as the following:

1. That President Roosevelt has "requested" that Horner be given a second term in return for his past support of the national administration. The White House has said it hasn't heard of it. This rumor is tied in with the report that WPA funds will be withheld from Chicago unless Kelly and Pat Nash, the national committee, go along with Horner. The scoffers say the President is interested only in carrying Illinois next year, without mixing in internal situations.

May Get Judgeship
2. That Horner will be eliminated from the field by an appointment as Federal judge. There is a vacancy on the Federal Court of Appeals at Chicago with the death of Judge Louis FitzHenry this week.

The governor has rejected similar overtures in the past. His men say he is in the race to stick and wouldn't withdraw for a place on the Supreme Court.

3. That the governor will be

Freighter at Mercy of Sea in Storm That Killed 30

The freighter Hartwellson, one of whose crew was washed overboard as it tossed in mountainous waves off the Virginia Capes, is pictured from the deck of the Orizaba, which responded to its calls for help. The crippled ship made port under its own power later.

eventually accepted by all factions on the theory that defeating him would be repudiation of the Democratic administration's record.

4. That Kelly and Nash have made no decision but plan to call in downstate and metropolitan leaders for a conference at which the "slate" choice for governor will be decided upon.

The word is also going from tongue to ear that Kelly himself wants to be governor. More than a half dozen other names have been mentioned as possibilities. Some of them are downstaters.

Both Cermak Men

Just what is the trouble between the Democratic chieftains is also subject to varying interpretations. Horner and Kelly were both front-rank followers of the late Mayor Cermak of Chicago. Their coolness started during the regular legislative session, and the veto of the Chicago handbook licensing bill is remembered. Some of the Democratic leaders have not been on close terms with the governor for some time. Patronage is one factor.

But the primary isn't until April 14 and there is no hurry about circulating nomination petitions. Meanwhile the situation is being closely watched, especially by the Democratic officials who want to run for re-election and hope that their party can avoid a primary fight.

State Hospital

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Amboy Women's club was held Monday in the library club rooms with Mrs. W. T. Holladay, president, presiding.

Miss Ingelse, head of the Occupational Therapy department of the Dixon State Hospital, was the speaker for the afternoon. Miss Ingelse was a very interesting speaker and told some of the highlights of her department. She said in part, "Occupational Therapy is teaching the patient to concentrate anew and to bring back self respect, that occupation is the prime object with accuracy as the aim for corrective reaction."

Some of the results of that occupation was displayed to the club. Hook rugs, needlepoint, cross stitch, and many other types of fine handiwork made up the industry applied in the occupational department as well as basketry and weaving. A brief case history was told in connection with some of the pieces shown.

Mrs. C. A. Davis, Mrs. B. F. Reinboth and Mrs. Ed. Edwards gave a brief resume of the year's program in the Education, Garden and Literature departments. Jack Brink, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Brink, played two beautiful violin solos.

Tea was served by a committee composed of Mrs. Earl Carlson, Mrs. G. P. Finch, Mrs. H. Hanson, Mrs. Anna Klein and Mrs. P. Plate with Mrs. DeLyle Worsley and Mrs. Gene Strous pouring.

The next meeting should be a very interesting follow-up for the past meeting since it is a conducted tour of the Dixon State Hospital, with the recreational and occupational departments as the chief objects of interest.

Boy's Play Ended in Accidental Death

Decatur, Ill. — Eugene Joseph Spaeth, 12, donned a cowboy suit and went into the basement of his parents' home to play with his new lariat. A few minutes later his body was found hanging from a basement rafter. Coroner J. J. Hopkins said the boy apparently climbed on to the rafter to fasten the rope and fell with the noose around his neck.

Be Sure to get your Money's worth

It's your money. You've earned it. It will be spent. For fuel, clothes, furniture, food, all sorts of necessities . . . and if there's any left, for luxuries.

The way to make that hard-earned money go farthest is to purchase products of CERTAIN VALUE. Products backed by well-known manufacturers. Products that are widely bought and used, that are carefully and painstakingly kept to high standards of quality and that have been found over and over again to give full worth. Advertised products!

When you buy a watch or a rake, a set of china or a radio set that is advertised in this paper, you are buying a product whose maker is willing to talk about it, tell about it, put what he knows about it in print and sign his name to it. When you buy advertised merchandise by name you get the utmost of purchasing value from every dollar.

Because it doesn't pay to advertise poor products, it DOES pay to buy those advertised.

RIDEOUT TWINS MAKING TRACK HISTORY AT U.

Usually Split The Tape
Together When Racing

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Hand in hand with heels flying, the rideout twins are sprinting along to new track history at the University of Illinois.

So far these remarkable 19-year-old sophomores, Blaine and Wayne Rideout, have won five consecutive cross-country meets this fall, but neither can claim an individual victory because they always cross the finish line together.

"Why do we do it?" repeats Blaine, the spokesman, in answer to a question concerning their hand in hand finishes.

"It's this way. We've always worked and played together on an even plane and thus far we've been lucky enough not to have a competitor very close to us at the finish. So, we just end up stride in stride, in fact, we've been running the entire distance this way for it helps us set our pace—and keep it."

Their cross-country triumphs have been earned over Purdue, Wisconsin, Iowa, Notre Dame and competitors in the Loyola invitation meet. Now they're looking forward to the indoor season during which Blaine runs the mile, and Wayne the half mile.

Won Prep Fame.
It was as a pair of prep school stars, attending Tusculum, Ill., high, that they first won fame. Previously, however, they had been schoolboy marvels while still in the grades—at Kaskaskia rural school, a few miles from their farm home west of Tusculum.

Ervin Anderson, teacher at the country school they attended, watched them run circles around their companions and gave them such coaching and advice as he could—meaningful, predicting to everyone who would listen that some day "they would burn up the tracks."

In their high school junior year Blaine set a new state high school record by running the mile in 4:25.2, and Wayne kept in step by establishing a new half-mile mark of 1:59.4.

The same season Blaine won the mile run in 4:24.4 in Stagg's national interschool meet, and Wayne was nose out in the half-mile, finishing second in 1:58.8.

All competition was postponed for them the following year when both were laid low by the measles. As a result both were forced to don glasses and they wear them off and on the track.

Records Fell.

At Illinois last year all freshmen indoor records fell before the onslaught of the brothers. Blaine ran the mile in 4:28.4 and Wayne cut the time for the half to 1:57.4. Outdoors Wayne ran the mile in 4:29.4, and Blaine the two-mile grind in 9:56.1, but neither was a record breaker.

Although the boys stick together like fly paper—they say they've only been apart for a single week in their lives—a checkup of their physical specifications does reveal some slight differences.

Wayne is the lighter of the two, tipping the scales at 145 pounds, and is five feet, 10½ inches tall, while Blaine weighs 148 pounds, and is five feet, 11½ inches in height.

So far there's never been any "love" interest to separate them.

"We don't have many dates, we stick to running," says Blaine. They wait table at their fraternity house and are up every morning at 6 o'clock to set tables for breakfast.

And they don't carry any rabbits' feet with them either, but they do share one pet superstition. "We always put our left shoe on first," says Blaine, "and we demand that the trainer always tape our left ankle first."

San Franciscan In Lightweight Boxing Picture

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Frankie Klick, San Francisco veteran, had bounced back into the middle of the lightweight picture today by virtue of a decisive victory over youthful Al Roth of New York.

Klick, old as fighters go, had a few stormy seasons in Madison Square Garden last night until he called on the ring craft he had perfected through the years. He then set out to give Roth a boxing lesson.

Weighing 133½, Klick won the unanimous decision in ten rounds before 6,500 persons who paid approximately $15,000 to see the fray. Roth weighed 134½.

The victory put Klick in line for a semi-final bout with Lou Ambers before climbing into a ring again with Tony Canzoneri, champion of the division.

REDS, CARDS ARE BENEFICIARIES OF BALL TRADES

Cincinnati Added Five Players To Its 1936 Roster

Dayton, O., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Baseball's "Trader Horns," homeward-bound from the minor league meeting, looked back today at several deals which may make or break pennant hopes in 1936.

It was generally agreed that the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals benefited most from the swaps and purchases made at the three-day meeting which closed on Friday.

The Reds, in buying George McQuinn, left-handed first sacker from the Newark Bears of the International loop, secured one of the best of the minor league crop, baseball men said.

McQuinn is rated as a fancy fielder. He hit .291 for Newark last year, but batted .331 for Toronto the year before.

The Cards, in trading second baseman Burgess Whitehead to the Giants for pitcher Bud Parmelee, got just what they needed, another starting hurler, experts said.

Cincinnati added five players besides McQuinn to its roster, including Lee Stine, right handed hurler, who came from the White Sox in a deal which sent infielder Joe Morrissey and some cash to the Chicago club. Stine won 18 and lost 11 for St. Paul last year.

A flock of other big-time deals were rumored as consummated, but announcements were withheld until the big league meeting in Chicago Dec. 12.

THE VANDERING CZAR

THE bleak stretches of Siberia cherish a weird legend that Czar Alexander I of Russia did not die, as announced, on Nov. 19, 1825, but that he quit the throne and took up the life of a wanderer. As proof, peasants in western Siberia reported that they had often seen a mysterious stranger, who resembled the czar, pass through their villages.

Officially, however, this comparatively liberal ruler had caught a cold and died. His death was mourned sincerely, for he had encouraged education and science and had instituted other reforms. His last important act, when he ascended the throne in 1801, was to free the serfs of the Baltic provinces.

SHARKEY WINS COMEBACK TRY WITH WINSTON

Knocked Negro Out in Second Round of Tame Battle

Boston, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey was safely past the first milepost in his campaign to regain the heavyweight title today, victor in a strange contest which he won by two knockouts.

In his first ring appearance in Boston in seven years Sharkey bowled over Eddie (Unknown) Winston, Hartford Negro, for the count of ten twice in six minutes and ten seconds of battling before 12,470 persons in Boston Garden last night.

A minute and 10 seconds of the first round had gone when the cautious Winston was felled by two uppercuts. Referee Johnny Martin counted Winston out and then, supported by one of the judges, accused the Negro of not trying and declared the fray no contest.

The crowd—largest a Garden bout has attracted in years—roared its protest and Sharkey, through his manager, appealed to members of the state boxing commission to allow Winston a fresh start. Commissioner Daniel J. Kelly consented.

The Negro was more aggressive as the second first round began but after two or three light jabs apparently lost his courage. Two or three more jabs in the opening of the second round and the Hartford lad's work was done for the night.

Sharkey dropped Winston twice in the second session—once for the count of nine and the second time, at the two-minute mark for the 10-count.

The former champion weighed 196 pounds, 13 less than when he lost his title to Primo Carnera two years ago, and one pound less than the Hartford battler.

Sharkey received a $5,000 guarantee and Winston 15 per cent of the net gate, which a boxing commission deputy estimated at $14,103.

Players Loyal

Lake Charles, La., Nov. 23.—(AP)—High school football players volunteered today to furnish blood for their coach, R. S. Killen, near death from a bullet wound allegedly inflicted by the father of a student he dismissed from the squad.

Police Chief S. J. Iles said R. S. Russell summoned the coach from a pep rally of 500 students last night, shot him below the heart and wounded him in the head.

Chief Iles said players told him Russell's son, Clifford, had been dropped from the football squad after he was charged with breaking training rules, and this led the father to hold a grudge.

Rogers' Love of Animals Not Confined to Horse; He Once Rebuked Cousin for Killing White Fawn

Will Rogers' love of animals was not confined to horses which he broke so efficiently or rode so skillfully.

E. W. Schrimsher, of Roswell, N. M., a cousin of the actor-humorist, recalls this incident, which occurred when Will was a youth of 16, not yet embarked on the career which was to make him famous.

"One day when Will was spending part of his summer at my home near Claremore (Okla.), I had tried to induce him to go hunting with me, but he refused so I went alone and shot a beautiful white fawn. When I returned I was proudly taking it off my horse when Will walked up, looked at the dead fawn and said:

"You oughtn't to have killed it, then walked away."

Millions now have an opportunity to contribute to the memory of Will Rogers. Famous friends have organized The Will Rogers Memorial Commission. It is hoped every one who smiled with Rogers will come forward with a subscription. Take it or send it to your bank—or any bank—or use the accompanying coupon to send your subscription to this office. Every cent subscribed will be used for memorials to be selected by Henry Ford Herbert Hoover, Alfred E. Smith, Will H. Young, Jesse H. Jones, Owen D. Davis, Vice President.

211 LEE COUNTY MEN ASSIGNED TO WPA PROGRAM

Must be at Work Monday and No Excuses Will Be Accepted

Enough requisitions to exhaust the entire available supply of WPA workers in every county of Illinois district No. 1 have been dispatched from district headquarters at Rockford to state and national employment service offices in the twenty-one counties and by Monday one member of each certified relief family in the district will have had a chance to go on WPA payroll.

Announced by Charles L. McCorry, district labor management supervisor, that the task of requisitioning workers has been completed shifted responsibility for getting all employables to work by Monday's deadline to employment offices and county relief administrations. Assignment slips instructing family heads where to report for work were on the way from employment offices today, accompanied in most counties by notices from relief administration warning that failure to report on assignments will result in summary dismissal from relief rolls.

21,000 Requisitioned
Although less than 16,000 family heads are available for assignment to work projects on the basis of certifications submitted to the WPA by county administrators, more than 21,000 workers have been requisitioned by the labor management department. The number of available workers has been over-run purposely in each county in order to assure a place for every man and woman by Monday.

The number of certifications submitted by relief administrators in each of the twenty-one counties is as follows: Boone, 308; Bureau, 557; Carroll, 168; DeKalb, 374; Grundy, 224; Henry, 721; JoDaviess, 421; Kendall, 119; LaSalle, 2,397; Lake, 1901; Lee, 211; McHenry, 272; Marshall, 210; Mercer, 376; Ogle, 228; Putnam, 207; Rock Island, 1,054; Stark, 214; Stephenson, 528; Whiteside, 500; Winnebago, 4,905.

May Fall Short
This total of 15,697 eligible workers is expected to coincide with the number of assignments issued by employment offices. It is expected, however, that the final WPA employment total for the district will fall somewhat short of this number. Many of those certified have already refused WPA assignments because of having secured other employment and some, it is expected, will be released by WPA project foreman on the grounds of physical disability.

Neither physical disability, wrong labor classification, nor family size will be accepted as an excuse for not reporting on WPA assignments. Objections will be heard only after workers have reported. District Director Mogen Ipsen, with the support of Illinois emergency relief commission officials, has announced.

Requisitions for 500 workers on national youth administration projects were included in those issued by the district labor management department at Rockford. In each county young men and women from large families will be given part-time WPA jobs at one-third the regular WPA wage. Their assignment will be in addition to the assignment of family heads and their wages will supplement income of the families.

In order to find places for all available workers by Monday it will be necessary to double and triple existing working forces on most operating projects. However, as new project approvals are received workers will be redistributed. More than 100 entirely new projects will have been started by Monday since the order establishing Nov. 25 as the deadline for placing all men at work was received earlier this week.

Darlene Fair was happily surprised Saturday afternoon when ten little girls came to her home to help her celebrate her ninth birthday anniversary which was the following day. In case of admittance being tried, the entire store is illuminated and a large gong outside the store in the front is rung. This naturally will be a surprise to the burglar and no doubt he she, or they will make a hasty get-away.

Mrs. Mabel Fisher, who has been ill with heart trouble for several weeks, at the home of Mrs. Cora Ives in Amboy was taken to the Dixon hospital Saturday for treatment. Mrs. Fisher is a former resident of this place. It will be remembered that her husband, Edward Fisher, was bookkeeper in the Durkes bank. While here they made many friends who will regret to learn of her illness.

Friends here have been advised of the death of Mrs. Frank Brewer at her home in Glen Ellyn. Her husband will be remembered as Rev. Frank Brewer, a former Ashton boy and well known here, having preached a number of times in the local Presbyterian church.

James Lookingland
James Lookingland died at his home here Sunday morning about 9:30 after a long illness, suffering from heart trouble. He had been very tenderly cared for by his sisters and nephew, Harold Buck.

"Jim" as he was known to all was a good man, a good neighbor and a good brother, and husband. He was ever ready to do a neighbor a favor, was a good worker. One of his best traits was cheerfulness. Full of good natured humor, which just not only helped him but those who cared for him.

James Lookingland, one of the older citizens of Lee county passed away at his home in Franklin Grove, Ill., Sunday morning, Nov. 17, 1933. He was the eldest of a large family and was born in Howard county, Md., August 1, 1854. He was 81 years of age the first day of last August. At the age of twelve years he came to Illinois with his parents, settling in the community of Nachusa, February 22nd, 1867, he was married to Mary A. Bose. Establishing a farm home he continued in that occupation until about three years ago when he came to Franklin Grove, where he has since resided. His parents, his wife, three brothers and one sister have preceded him in death. He leaves to mourn his departure, seven sisters: Mrs. Annie Barnhart of Sandwich, Ill.; Mrs. Laura Miller, Mrs. Mary Sanders, Mrs. Ida Lott, Mrs. Grace Buck, Misses Duclue and Saloma Lookingland, all of Franklin Grove, Lester Barkley whose home from childhood to manhood was with Mr. and Mrs. Lookingland, of Philadelphia, Pa., also survives. There are also a large number of nieces and nephews.

The deceased was a charter member of Camp 45, M. W. A., and enjoyed all the benefits derived from the organization, and was a faithful member of same.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Hick's funeral home, Rev. C. P. Blekking, pastor of the Presbyterian church having charge of the services. Mrs. Bernell Knapp, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Moore sang two hymns. Interment was made in the Emmert cemetery, west of town, where his wife is buried. The casket bearers were fraternal members of the local Woodman Camp: Charles Howard, W. W. Phillips, Blaine C. Hussey, Wilbur Emmert, Wilbur Dysart and George L. Spangler.

There is no death— They only truly live Who pass into the land beyond, and see This earth is but a school of preparation For a larger ministry.

We call them "dead"— But they look back and smile At our dead living in the bonds of flesh, And do rejoice that, in so short a while Our soul shall slip the leash.

There is no death To those whose hearts are set On higher things than this life can afford; How can their passing leave one least regret, Who go to join their Lord.

Those from a distance to attend the funeral were: Mrs. T. Lookingland, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Apfel of Beloit, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barnhart of Sandwich, Mrs. Jennie Slaybaugh of Dalhart, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. George Kilmer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slaybaugh of Amboy, Mrs. John Bose, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Reinhardt of Dixon, John Hoff of Nachusa.

Parent-Teachers Meeting
The regular monthly meeting of the P. T. A. was held at the school house Tuesday evening with a good attendance. The newly-organized community orchestra under the direction of Rev. Paul Studebaker, made their first appearance in public and played several numbers. Fred Gross, president of the Board of Directors gave several statements concerning the finances and the workings of the school and the school board, which were very helpful and something that every taxpayer has a right to know, as Mr. Gross said, Master Berkeley Duncan rendered a piano solo, at this time, after which Rev. L. E. Winter of the Methodist church gave a short talk on "Child Psychology." This was followed by a vocal duet by Misses Kathryn Lahman and Beatrice Hunter, both teachers in the school. One of the engineers, a gentleman from Bloomington was present and explained the working of the new furnace which was recently installed. He explained in detail the ventilating system of the furnace which was very interesting and instructive. The furnace room was opened to anyone to see the furnace. The address of the evening was given by Prof. Weiss of Dixon, agricultural teacher of the Dixon high school. He used for his subject, "The Value of Vocational Education in a Rural Community." His address is spoken of very highly and that much real information was gained from it. After music by the orchestra, the hospitality committee, Mrs. Earl Buck, Mrs. Arthur Watson and Miss Blanche Colwell served refreshments.

Moving Picture
"The Christus" a motion picture in seven reels showing the life of Christ as portrayed in the Bible, from His birth to His ascension, will be shown in the Presbyterian church Monday evening, November 25th at 7:30. Parents could do no finer thing for themselves and for their children than to bring the whole family to see the life of Christ, revealed to them by this seven reels of the finest pictures that can be obtained. Rev. Blekking received the following letter from Rev. George Scroggs, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Macon, Ill., "Your letter inquiring about the giving of 'The Christus' in our church by the Central Film System of Oshkosh, Wis. received. It was a grand success. The church was crowded to its limit, every standing room was at a premium. The people were greatly and agreeably pleased and we would be delighted to have it reproduced. It was perfectly true to the New Testament record, even the Christ's baptism by affusion standing in the river Jordan. It did not give us much money. It gave us a great service. The audience saw the Christ in a way they will never forget. I am sure you will appreciate the picture and will never regret it. You need not hesitate in recommending it to the public and inviting them to see it. I am your brother in Christ, George R. Scroggs."

Surely the above letter will convince anyone of the value of the picture. It has been several years since any picture of this kind has been shown here. It is hoped that there will be a large audience and especially children. It will prove a profitable evening for them.

Dead Chain Letters
The question has often been asked, what do you suppose has become of the chain letters? We all remember well the chain letter craze, and when it was at its height regular postmen were kept busy and in many places extra clerks were hired to handle the flood of letters. A lot of stamps were bought to speed up those millions of letters, for which Uncle Sam was grateful. Citizens who got stung wondered if any good at all could come out of the chain letters. It seems their curiosity is to be satisfied for Uncle Sam is going to be the one to profit. Thousands of chain letters have been pouring in to the dead letter office at Washington because they bore faulty addresses. In these letters was money ranging from a dime up to several dollars, and under postal laws the government gets all the money that reaches the dead letter office when letters cannot be delivered and bear no return address. So there is where no doubt a lot of your dimes are.

Brethren Church Notes
This Sunday will bring to a close our Loyalty Month campaign. It has been very successful. Last Sunday services were among the largest attended in the last several months. Every seat was taken Sunday evening, when the play, "The Eleventh Mayor" was presented in a very forceful manner. The Presbyterian congregation came over in a body, which was very much appreciated. We ought to work together more, churches are not competitive business houses, but co-laborers for saving souls and the building of a better community.

This Sunday morning there will be roll call of the members; every member whose name is on our records, will be called. We hope as many as possible will be present to answer.

Next Wednesday evening, a Thanksgiving supper will be held in the basement of the church. God has been good to us, our crops and harvest bountiful. Let us respond by caring for His work. We invite our friends, anyone in the community, to come and enjoy the evening with us. Bring a well filled basket and table service.

9:30 Sunday school. Our Sunday school teachers are very regular in their preparation of the lesson and in the teaching of their classes. May we ask that every scholar study their lessons and be present each Sunday? We invite all of the parents, whose children are in our classes, to join a class for themselves and get the benefit also, of a study of these Bible lessons.

10:30 Morning worship. A fine anthem by the choir, Dr. Howard Phillip, a missionary among the Sioux Indians on Pine Ridge reservation, South Dakota, will deliver an interesting message. A free-will offering will be taken to be given to the work of the Board of National Missions. Dr. Phillip is reported to be an able speaker.

We had seventy-seven present at an inspiring service last Sunday evening. Our average has been 65. Now, if every family of the church and every member will make the best effort they can to be present and invite their friends to be present, we can easily have 150 folks present to worship God and to hear a great message about the people of America next Sunday morning.

7:00 P. M. Christian Endeavor. Robert Fish will lead the meeting on the Thanksgiving subject, "What Great Things God Hath Done for Us."

The Presbyterian Young People's League will hold its big fall rally in Fulton Friday evening and Saturday morning, Dec. 6 and 7. Plans will be made to send a large delegation from our Sunday school, and the Endeavor society to this splendid rally.

C. P. Blekking, Minister.
Mrs. Elmer Orner had the misfortune to fall at her home Thursday afternoon and dislocate her hip. Owing to her advanced age the injury will be a long time getting better. Mrs. Orner is well known in this community and has many friends who will regret to learn of her accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelley and Miss Maude Condon were called to Clinton, Ia., Thursday night by the serious illness of their uncle, William Donegan, who is in a hospital at that place.

Many Thanks
It has been some time since we have expressed our appreciation for the items which are given to us, either by mail or telephone. Several have been kind enough to call at our home with items, which made it especially fine. No doubt it has been noticed the falling off of the personal items. We try to get all the news and we believe we get them; but of course there are some we do not get. Is it our fault or your fault? We surely want the news. We try not to be a burden. We do hesitate many times about calling for items fearing we will bother some one. We are always pleased when items are given to us. In any way, it makes no difference to us, how they come, just so we get them. Use your own pleasure in sending them, mail, telephone or call at the house, we will enjoy the last. Please remember us with your items anytime, and especially next Thursday. Thanksgiving day we will be near the phone all day, ready to take your items. Thank you very much.

BROOKVILLE NEWS

BY OLIVE B. ROWERS.

Brookville — "The Rainbow," "Thy Kingdom Come," "The Crossroads," will be presented by a cast of 35 local people in a sacred program, beautiful and expressive in pantomime, pageantry and drama at 7:30 p. m. on Sunday, Nov. 24, at Grace Evangelical church. It will be the annual thankoffering program of the Woman's Missionary Society. Mrs. Frank Seasholtz will preside. The hymn, "The Kingdom is Coming" and a short devotional pageant will precede the "Rainbow" period which will be presented in an entirely white setting. "Love" represented by Miss Iolene Paul will ascend a white throne before an illuminated cross as voices sing "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." Seven young ladies will depict the motives of Gratitude, Obedience, Honor, Loyalty, Ambition, Privilege and Self-Denial, all radiating from "Love." In the closing scene a soloist will sing "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross."

The drama "Thy Kingdom Come" is a lesson in tithing. The three acts take place in the home of the "Robinson" family who are indifferent to real Christian service until visited by a cousin, Leota Joy, when the closing moments set forth what God can do with a consecrated life.

The cast: Mr. Robinson—Harry Shipman. Mrs. Robinson—Mrs. Osborn Shafer. Jack, their son—Wayne Hess. Ruth, a daughter—Grace Shafer. Mary, a daughter—Hazel Moser. Leota Joy—Velma Hess. Miss Thompson—Mrs. Harry Shipman.

The "Crossroads" is a pageant showing forth the shining pathway and uses the parable of the ten virgins five wise and five foolish. It illustrates the different degrees of consecration between so-called Christians and Christians, a question not of reaching or missing heaven, but also of taking or missing the opportunity.

Mrs. E. P. Shipman will represent "Revelation" and the Misses Esther Garman and Dorothy Bowers will take the parts of "Opportunity" and "Consecration." There will be over 20 additional characters and an impressive finale as voices sing "He Was Not Willing That Any Should Perish."

The "Martz" family quartette will sing the leading parts during the program. Mrs. M. F. Shafer, accompanist.

There will be a free-will offering and Rev. J. E. Widmer will pronounce the benediction.

The following eight rural schools—Barclay, Donaldson, Chamber's Grove, Center Hill, Burr Oak, Eagle Point, Mc Vernon and Brookville with one pupil from each school will participate in one of the county's divisional contests to be held on Friday evening at the local school house. Miss Esther Garman, teacher, is chairman of this division. Announcement of the winner will be made later.

"The Cowan Reporter," is the name of a bi-weekly paper printed by pupils of the Cowan school and reports news happenings in the district as well as items relative to school work. Each family receives a copy of this interesting little paper.

Mr. and Mrs. John Senn and her mother, Mrs. Mary Talmadge, motored to Waukegan on Sunday where they were guests of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Senn.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hess, Lima township, entertained the following friends at dinner on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Herr and children Rodney and Delores, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Fry and family of Sterling. William Brockwell, his daughter Lucile and son Remar, returned home on Sunday from week's visit with relatives in Jonesboro, Tenn.

Mrs. Ellen Giest, aged 82, is quite ill at her home in the village and under the care of a Polo physician. Mrs. Harriet Lower and Mrs. W. Butler are also among the sick folk of the village.

FINAL WEEKS OF "DODSWORTH"

Run at Erlanger, Chicago, Ends December 21.

Max Gordon announces that Walter Huston will close his engagement in "Dodsworth" at the Erlanger theatre, Chicago, on Saturday night, December 21st, in order to make way for another attraction. At that time the Sinclair Lewis—Sidney Howard play will have had a run of ten weeks in the Loop, with the advance demand for tickets for the remaining weeks indicating the same high peak of attendance that has been the rule since the opening night on October 14th.

Much of the success of "Dodsworth" in Chicago has been due to Mr. Gordon's promise, rigidly adhered to, that at least 95 per cent of the choice seats for all performances would be available to the public directly from the box-office, or by mail, and this same policy will remain in force for the final weeks.

No play in recent times has been more highly praised by the critics or more enthusiastically received by the public than "Dodsworth", and the thousands who have sat before and enjoyed the performances of Walter Huston and his associated players are its best advocates.

At the conclusion of the Chicago engagement Walter Huston and "Dodsworth" will begin their tour to the Pacific coast.

BUSINESS, INDUSTRY AND TAXATION

And Address by
LEWIS H. BROWN
President, Johns-Manville Corp.

Before The American Bankers' Association at New Orleans, Louisiana November 13, 1935.

In 1934 the national income was approximately 48 billions of dollars and the total cost of all government—local, state and national—is estimated by the National Industrial Conference Board as being 15 1/2 billions of dollars. Today the total cost of government is equal to one-third of the national income. Today taxation—local, state and national—absorbs between 20% and 25% of the income of the people. The balance of governmental spending represents debt that will inevitably lead to greater taxation.

Twenty-five years ago a business man defined his competitor as someone else in the same line of business. If he was a manufacturer of shoes, his competitors were other manufacturers of shoes. Fifteen years ago business men began to realize that their real competition lay in another direction. They began to realize that shoe manufacturers as a whole were competing with automobile manufacturers for a share of the consumer's dollar. That manufacturers of refrigerators were competing with the vacation industry. That the clothing industry was competing with the movie industry for a share of the family budget.

Today, industry is beginning to realize that its greatest competition for the citizen's dollar is government. There isn't such a thing as "big business" today. Bigness is relative. And the biggest thing in this country today is government. It is the biggest trust that has ever been put together. It is more powerful by a thousand times than any trust or combination of trusts against which President Theodore Roosevelt wielded his big stick. If these statements seem too general, permit me to be specific.

In 1934 automobile taxes in the form of license fees, gasoline taxes, and taxes on the automobile as personal property totalled over $1,200,000,000. Yet the price that the automobile manufacturers received for the cars they sold to the automobile dealers was $1,147,000,000. Is it possible that more automobiles might be sold and more employment given if the cost of government were somewhat less?

Today, the melting pot of taxation is seething and bubbling over with appropriations, levies, debts, loans, subsidies, dual levies, exemptions, discriminations, confiscation and unlimited powers, and in all there is the hissing sound of inflation. Out of this cauldron of strange mixtures and the molten mass of incongruities is coming the compelling necessity of either completely revising and reforming our taxing system so as to place a limit upon governmental expenditures or of finding some means of inducing the citizens themselves to protect their incomes and the heritage of future generations from the unlimited spending of the multitudinous governmental units that are insatiable in their appetite for more.

Here is an issue that transcends all petty politics. North, South, East and West—all can agree and all can join in this movement. It is not temporary. It must be carried on year after year, until the end is attained. Whether the New Deal continues for another four years or more, or passes into an oblivion as deep as the grave in which old man Prohibition lies buried, does not matter. The necessity for an aroused public opinion, demanding that "The cost of government must be reduced," continues. The very existence and the future of this representative republic—founded by Washington and Hamilton and Jefferson—hangs today upon the balance of this issue.

When the people support the government and the government is subservient to the people, then the American system is safe. But when the government supports the people, then the people will, of necessity, be subservient to the government, and representative government will perish.

Today there is an invisible guest who sits at the table of every family in this country. He is the invisible tax eater that collects the hidden taxes. When the housewife purchases three pork chops, the butcher weighs them out but only wraps up two. The third he gives to this invisible guest.

Now, it is not suggested that to avoid taxes, we have no government. Good government is necessary and is a real asset to the citizens. Nor is it suggested that we discontinue all relief and let our fellow citizens starve when they are in need. Nor is it suggested that we eliminate the army and navy and leave our country defenceless. Nor discontinue all education so that our children become illiterate. Nor that we should quit building highways that have brought enjoyment to so many. There is a reasonable amount of all these things that we can and should have. But we should have only what we can afford to pay for and what we are willing to pay for. We must recognize that when we go into long term debt for things that we may want today, we are apt to pay in interest many times the original cost and we must recognize the inherent dangers of spending more than our income. The youth of Germany revolted against the burden of war debt. The youth of America may well revolt against the enormous debt we are piling up, a great part of which leaves behind no evidence of any tangible value received.

Every citizen is a taxpayer whether he knows it or not, but the public servant who represents him as a citizen and a voter in our government will not recognize him as a taxpayer until the citizen himself is wholly conscious of the fact and makes his status as a taxpayer known and felt to his representatives in government whether it be his mayor, his state legislator or governor, or his Congressman or Senator in the national government.

Let every citizen's cry be: "The cost of government must be reduced." Demand of every officeholder that he prove that he has used all his influence to reduce the cost of government. Let every citizen realize clearly that at the rate we are going, in another 10 or 20 years not one-third but two-thirds of his income may be going for the cost of government and that when that day comes we will all be working for the government and we won't have any need for taxes because we will, in effect, then be ready for a Communist State.

Some people think that all we need is a new mayor, or a new governor, or a new Congress. But what we really need is an aroused public opinion demanding that the cost of government must be reduced.

It is useless to attempt to solve this problem in terms of parties, for no matter what the label, the costs of government apparently continue to mount and taxes are further increased. The only possible solution, it seems to me, lies in the education of the individual citizen in the fundamental fact that all the people support the government and that the government cannot support all the people. Somehow we must make every last man and woman and child realize that no matter whether taxes are paid directly or not, no citizen can escape paying his share of the cost of government that comes through the hidden taxes that are buried in every single purchase that he makes with his hard earned dollar.

With All My Love by Mary Raymond

They were chatting like old friends when they mounted the steps of the Cameron home.

"Smart," was the word Dana used mentally. These homes evidently belonged to the wealthiest families of the town. The one on the corner, far back among its green acres, was a reproduction of an imposing English manor house, ivy clung thickly to the brick walls and spiralled about its chimneys.

Dana turned the nose of the car in this direction. She would drive for some distance on this attractive thoroughfare and if she failed to see Nancy she would return home.

She drove rapidly, the road unwinding like a long white ribbon, and handsome homes marching past in picturesque review. The one she was passing now was an enormous structure, set high on a hill several hundred yards away. Its turreted tops gleamed brightly under the glass of the sun. A veritable woodland of trees and flowering shrubs had been rudely parted in the center of the grounds, permitting those passing by to glimpse the immense white stone residence.

But Dana was destined not to pass. There was an ominous explosion, the car swerved suddenly, and came to a violent stop.

"Darn!" Dana exclaimed. "Now, I'm in for it." She was thinking of her grandmother, who would be waiting for her groceries and who would never understand why Dana had taken the prolonged drive which had ended in a puncture.

She looked about anxiously. No help in sight.

From her vantage position, through tall spires of iron Dana had a clear view of the house, and it pleased her not at all. "A cost of imitation of an English castle," she decided. Or was it French?

But there was none of an old castle's charm. It was so obviously new and expensive; just a vulgar display of wealth.

A car stopped nearby and a young man leaped out and came forward.

"Have you sent for help?" he asked.

Dana liked his directness. Most men would have said, "Had a puncture?" or something like that. And, of course, the punctured tire was perfectly obvious.

She smiled. "I didn't know exactly how to go about it."

"That should be easily remedied," said the stranger. "I'll drive in and telephone for you. It will take sometime to get someone out to do the job. I'd offer to fix the puncture, only I'm really a dub at anything like that."

"I wouldn't have you run those beautifully creased trousers for worlds," Dana said. "I'd really enjoy the wait, if it weren't for my grandmother's groceries."

"Your grandmother?" There was a surprised infection in his voice. "My grandmother, Mrs. Cameron."

"Nancy's grandmother—why, I didn't know—" He broke off, embarrassed.

"You didn't know Mrs. Cameron had another granddaughter?" Dana supplied.

"Well, now, it seems to me I did. Only I thought she was abroad—in England or France."

"I've lived in both places. My father was an artist and we were always moving. I came here from Paris. I'm Dana Westbrook."

Dana sat, uncomfortably aware of her unintentional rudeness, as the dark blue roadster gathered up miles and spread them behind.

It was ridiculous to allow such an incident to topple her poise and make her appear silly and stupid.

"I'm sorry," she said. "Maybe the reason I'm critical is that I've never lived in big, handsome homes. Only in little places or an old house like Grandmother's. Anyway, I'm going to forget all about it."

"Good. Now we can think about the groceries. Here we are!"

A half hour later the two, bundle-laden and chatting like old friends, mounted the steps of the Cameron home.

Sarah answered the doorbell and took the packages. Her eyes were rolling with astonishment.

As the door closed behind Ronald, Dana turned to face her grandmother and aunt. On the first landing of the stairway, Nancy was standing.

"We were frightened, Dana," her grandmother began. "There wasn't a thing we could get out of the service man except that the bill had been paid. . . . He brought the car to the front door and rushed off. It seems you might have phoned."

"It didn't occur to me you'd be worried," Dana said. "I'm so accustomed to taking care of myself. When Ronald Moore came along and offered to phone and then said I'd get the shopping done I thought it was awfully nice and—"

"Ronald Moore," her grandmother said. The cold look had given way to a different expression. She spoke softly. "It was nice of him. Ronald is a very nice young man."

"Ronnie," said Nancy.

Suddenly she laughed aloud. And then, just as suddenly, she ran back up the stairs.

Mt. Vernon Scene of Bad Fire Friday

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—An apartment house blaze which spread to a garage and for a time threatened other buildings was brought under control here Friday with the combined efforts of fire departments of Mt. Vernon, Benton and Centralia.
The apartment building owned by the defunct Mt. Vernon Third National bank, was completely destroyed at a loss estimated at $12,000. The garage building adjoining, also was destroyed at a loss estimated between $7,000 and $8,000.
Twelve families occupied the second floor of the apartment building and all made their escape.
A change in the direction of the wind would have endangered the entire business district, firemen said.
The fire started around 10:10 A. M. from an undetermined cause, firemen reported.

As a mother ministers to her children, caring for them when they are ill, binding up their cuts and bruises, teaching them habits of health and how to avoid needless accidents, and facing with them their problems of daily living, so the Red Cross ministers to the nation, giving help and encouragement to countless thousands. This Chapter is the local arm of the Red Cross. Now is the time of our annual Roll Call. Join without delay.

Hold to Jealousy Theory in Murder in New City, N. Y.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Pressing their investigation of the mystery slaying of LeRoy Smith, 24-year-old farmer's son, authorities kept up a continual questioning of two men, one of whom is the estranged husband of a young woman with whom the slain man had been friendly.
The two men were Luther Philpot and Carl Stottlenyer, who shared an apartment in New York. Philpot was described as the estranged husband of Mary Swope, 17-year-old New York City brunette, who has been seen frequently with Smith during the last several months.
Philpot and Stottlenyer were questioned all night.
The girl herself also was questioned more than two hours and then sent to her home subject to further questioning later.

Explorers Again Fail Long Flight

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—For a second time in two days Lincoln Ellsworth was back at his base in the Antarctic region today after an unsuccessful attempt to fly across the Antarctic continent, he reported by wireless to the New York Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance.
Ellsworth and his pilot, Herbert Hollock-Kenyon, failed in their second try yesterday, when, after a start from Dundee Island, they encountered a barrier of mountain peaks 11,000 feet high and were unable to fly over them because of clouds.
Only 800,000 of the 6,000,000 farms in the United States are electrified.
